Ballots and Books: Help Wanted: Variation In Skills, Pay and Job Descriptions Across Local Election Offices

Join us for the first in our Ballots and Books series. This series will focus on election administration research and how election officials can use it.

In this webinar, we are joined by Will Adler of The Bipartisan Policy Center and Paul Manson, a faculty member at Portland State University and the research director for the Elections & Voting Information Center, to discuss their research on the election administration workforce and how it can be helpful to election officials.
