

October 11, 2024

On a screen near you: Officials are livestreaming the election process for more transparency

“People should be patient as officials deal with an array of circumstances, including having to drive ballots from polling places to processing centers, said Jennifer Morrell, CEO and co-founder of The Elections Group. It’s made up of former state and local election officials who offer training and other support to officials across the country.”

Read more from The Associated Press

Original link: <https://electionsgroup.com/on-a-screen-near-you-officials-are-livestreaming-the-election-process-for-more-transparency/>