When will we find out who the president will be? What to know for 2024 election

“Running a secure election doesn’t mean it’s perfect or free of error. It means it’s resilient. So there’s a backup plan for everything. Now, the most common things are a poll worker oversleeps or the person who’s going to unlock the polling place didn’t get there in time so it opens a little bit late. Those things are going to happen everywhere all over the country,’ Praetz said. ‘They’re going to be highly localized, you know, disruptive, but correctable issues, right?’”
