

November 8, 2024

This Time, Few Complaints If Any Around Election Management

“In sharp contrast to 2020, election officials are not being attacked for their work. It’s possible that harassment and threats will subside. ‘I’ve seen gratitude being shown, even on my social media,’ says Tina Barton, a longtime former election official who consults with her former counterparts. ‘There’s a newfound respect for what these election administrators do.’”

Read more from Governing

Original link: <https://electionsgroup.com/this-time-few-complaints-if-any-around-election-management/>